R. L. Spotts and H. B. Knight Next in Line With 95 Each.

Just as it began to look as though another shoetoff would have to take place te determine the winner of the high gun pitco W. G. Allen forged to the front of the field of New York A. Knight, who toppled 95 each almost at the outet of the day's competition. Spotts looked to be well on the way to equalling Martin McVoy's record of 100 craight made the previous week when he ran off his first two strings of 25 without missing once. In the third string, however, the veteran let four of the "birds" get away from him, while in his last quarter century he fanned Spotts's glorious opening was in strong contrast to the general run of the shooting, for of thirteen straights made uring the afternoon no less than nine of them came in the last 25.

America May Not See Any of the Davis Cup The unis Play.

Before long the international lawn tennis not will, be at the boiling point. From an American enthusiast's point of view the drawings for the Davis cup competition, just announced, mean nothing more than the achiequie which the Yankee team will follow in its progress into the challenge round with the Australasians. America has the national enthus lasm for the game and the players as well and it will be greatly disappoin ted if it does not win back the trophy. At the same time we do not be lieve that we are going into this affair with overconfidence. We appreculate that nothing should be taken for granted in sport, particularly in a com spelition abroad, in which the factor of acclimation may play a big role.

As the schedule stands South Africa will meet in olland in the first between New York lightweights Willie ound and the United States will play France. South Africa should win Jackson, weighing 1351-4 pounds, dewith ease, but we may get a hard tussle from France, wit ich has two really feated Johnny Martin, 137 great players in Gobert and Decugis. However, England's veterans, who the wind up at the National A. A. last were so easy for Australasia, defeated France last fall, so we may look for night in aix rounds. Jackson dropped similar success. In the second round South Africa singuld not experience tin took a count of three and from that any difficulty in winning over Canada, which no longer; can call on Power, time on did considerable holding. The who is dead, and Schwengers, who has retired from competition. The bout was almost stopped by the police American team should win over England with semethil 12 to spare. Then it in the fifth round when Martin started will be America against South Africa in the final, and "America against the a kick in Jackson's direction, but Australasians for the cup. The schedule is not a particularly happy one, for we would have liked it a lot better if we were to meet the English in the final. The arrangement also indicates very strortgly that we are not likely to see any of the Davis cup play in this counts of. We are likely to meet France in France and England and South Africa at Wimbledon. Incldentally, playing in France would mean matches on clay courts—the first in the history of the Davis cup event.

Stecher Again Proves That He Is Easily the Greatest Wrestler.

Joe Stecher took more than three hours to bead Strangler Lewis last Friday night but he finally accomplished his task over his most formidable rival in impressive fashion and again proved that he is the greatest wrestler in the world. Stecher seemed just a little worn ity his long campaign throughout the country. Had he been a little fresher the bout never would have approached the three hour mark. It was a clear, scientific, hard fought bout and closed a season which will go down into verestling history as the cleanest which New York yet has seen. This may a nund a bit like damning the game with faint praise. But the use of the affective "clean" in any connection with wreatling should be regarded as the highest compliment With the return of boxing in New York apparently once more postponed the outlook for wrestling next season seems brighter than ever.
